Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 02 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Turning mild with scattered heavy showers.

Today:
Rain slowly clearing the north of the country through the morning with sunny spells developing from the south. During the afternoon showers at times heavy spread across the region. A mild day with winds strengthening. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Scattered showers clearing through the evening and early night with clear spells developing for some. A mild night with winds easing. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Wednesday:
A largely dry start with sunny spells for a time. Scattered blustery showers with brief sunny spells through the afternoon. Clearer spells develop overnight but remaining mild. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Scattered showers and sunny spells on Thursday and Friday with winds becoming lighter. Cloudier on Saturday and becoming colder.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.